April Rose Pengilly has been proudly represented by Chadwick Model Agency since 2004. While accompanying her father legendary musician and member of INXS, Kirk Pengilly at a Nokia launch in 2005, April hit Australia's radar, immediately becoming the focus of intense media attention and soon signed as one of the "Faces" of the Nokia event for 2006.

April quickly cut her own path appearing in numerous Fashion magazines, including Girlfriend and Shop Till You Drop, a national print campaign for fashion label, Valley Girl, and, not surprisingly various music video clips.

April also kept busy on the catwalk, appearing in ready-to-wear showcases as well as for individual designers Lover and as the Face and Muse for Bowie during Australian Fashion Week of that year.

During that time April also came to the attention of leading overseas model agencies and while accompanying her father in New York during the INXS world tour, she was signed to leading US agency, Wilhelmina.

Following New York, April spent time in Tokyo where she fulfilled contractual commitments to leading agent, TEAM.

April returned to Australia accepting the role of David Jones Youth Ambassador for Spring/Summer 06/07 where she strutted the runway and fulfilled extensive Media duties nationwide.

In 2007 April consolidated her position as one of Australia's "it" girls and in 2008 continued to attract constant media attention before heading to London. During her time there April was shot by world renowned photographer "Rankin" and appeared in spreads for UK Elle, Marie Claire and a feature in Oyster

On her return to Australia April chose to take her career to another level accepting select movie roles and appearing as an MC at various industry and Charity events.

In 2009 April was honoured to be chosen for the highly prestigious role of L'Oreal Melbourne Fashion Festival [LMFF] Ambassador, held in March. Karen Webster, Festival Director said "April's runway ready looks combined with her distinct and natural appeal, rock royalty DNA and star quality translate to a perfect fit for the Festival." "She brings a unique combination of beauty, vivaciousness and intelligence, all key qualities for this role"

April Rose Pengilly continues to expand her horizons beyond Fashion Model beginnings now encompassing an extensive media and acting career.
