Personalities

CHADWICKMANAGEMENT

Luke Van Dyck has been with Chadwick Modelling Agency since 2000 after being discovered on Sydney's Northern Beaches.

Since having joined Chadwick, Luke has worked very successfully as a model throughout Australia, representing brands as recognizable as Coca Cola, Kodak and Stimorol.

A licensed builder, Luke also owns LVD Industries Pty Ltd, a building company that works with top architects building and renovating high end custom homes for a clientele that includes many well-known celebrities. In 2009 his company was recognized as executing the best renovation in NSW by the industry body.

In 2002 Luke burst onto national TV screens with a role on the Nine Network's high-rating DIY Rescue program and, from there, went on to appear on Nine's Renovation Rescue, Renovate or Detonate and Renovation Rumble.

In 2004, Luke was nominated in the category of "Best New Talent" at the Australian Logies and his television career has since gone from strength to strength. Currently he has appears in the on-going lifestyle program Australian Renovation on Foxtel's How To Channel. He also appeared on the Nine Network series entitled Do It and, also on Nine, a specialised tradesman challenge, Jack Of All Trades.

All these roles he manages to fit in with his own business interests and is currently working on a book.

As a result of his ever increasing public profile, Luke is regularly asked to make guest appearances at trade shows and celebrity events. Luke regularly gives live presentations at the national HIA Home Shows and is considered a specialist in the use of new and energy efficient building materials in the construction industry. For instance, he was the Ambassador for James Hardie Industries new "Scyon" product range and makes regular guest appearances on national television to discuss the benefits of these products.

Chadwick has the greatest faith in Luke in MC and ambassador roles as the agency has found him to be highly professional and punctual with a very easy and affable personality.
